Videos of your song can be created as well, from simple acoustic performances to full blown productions.

Please email us concerning special rates for the "extras".

Time frame

As far as turn-around time, it really depends on many factors.

If we start with an existing background track it can take as little as a day or two. Although it's best to have a few weeks for the process, for best results, when you consider everything involved.

If we do a song from scratch with full backing band, it could take one week minimum and it is best to have at least a few weeks.

This also depends on how full my schedule is at the time. I have completed songs in as little as one day, but that often involves rush charges and canceling everything else on my agenda..

You also need to consider the approval process, I typically take the info that you give me and write a sketch lyric that I will send to you for approval. Depending on how many people are involved with approving the lyrics that could take 5 minutes or 5 days. It is best in that case to designate one person to be in charge of that process.
